DEBT-PAYING REPUBLICANS INTEND TO

HAVE A CONVENTION.—The delegation of straightout Republicans that went to Washngton to have a consultation with the President in regard to the proposed co-alition of the Republicans and Readjusters had not returned to the city yesterday. There seems to be no doubt now but that a convention will be called. Mr. Otis H Russell, collector of internal revenue for this district, and one of the staunches debt-paying Republicans in the State, said yesterday that a convention will certainly be held and that a straightout Republican ticket will be placed in the field the coming election, and that the debt-paying element of that party intend to maintain a party organization in this State.

There is a rumor that an attempt will b made to capture the State Central Commit-tee, which meets in this city Tuesday, and stave off a call for a convention. Promi-nent straightouts say that should this move prove successful and a call for a convention be frustrated the matter will come before the people in mass-meeting. The name of General Wickham is mentioned in connection with the first place on the Republican debt-paying ticket; Major Yost, of Staunton, the second; and Judge Willoughby, of Alexandria, the third

DEATH OF MR. WILLIAM H. PAGE .- It is with much regret that we announce the death of Mr. William H. Page, city gas inspector, who breathed his last at 4 o'clock yesterday morning at the residence of his aunt, Mrs. Mary J. Bargamin. He had been ong sick, and his friends, while not surprised at his demise, heard of it with deep egret. For many years he has been gas nspector of Richmond, and discharged the duties of the position with energy and fidelity. He was one of the earliest members of the "Konserv-ative Kampaign Klub," and when active duty was needed was always at his post. During the war he was a member of the First company of Howitzers, and was up to his death a contributor to the present Howitzer Company of this city. His comrades-in-arms will attend his funeral in a body. Mr. Page was only thirty-five years of age, but he had crowded into his brief life more than is often accom-plished by those who live to an older age. His funeral will take place from the Se Baptist church this evening at 5 o'clock.

A WILD ANIMAL AT LARGE IN AN AUCTION-House.—For something over a week past the auction-room of Mr. Jao. E. Laughton has been disturbed by mysterious noises and the unmistakable evidence of some curious and inexplicable agency. All efforts at unravelling the mystery were of little avail, and the strange sounds took such practical shape in the breaking of crockery and show-case glass that the superstitious believed the place to be baunted by some troubled spirit, while the more matter-offact saw in it only the working of some human agency. The mystery might still have remained unravelled had it not been that on remained unraveiled had it not been hat on Friday last Mr. Laughton desired to write a postal-eard, and to that end opened a locked drawer in his desk where he kept letters and stationery. What was his astonishment to find a young gray fox quietly reposing upon his postal-eards may be better imagined than described. The drawer was only about three inches in depth, and being more than half filled with papers, it is remore than half filled with papers, it is re-markable bow Master Reynard managed to secrete himself in such a limited space. This is one of the three foxes sold on Thursday week last, and escaped from the cage after it had been purchased by a down-

The meeting was called to order by Colonel A. S. Burford, and on his motion Mr. H. E. C. Baskervill was invited to preside. Mr. R. Brooke, secretary of the company, acted as secretary of the stockholders.

Colonel Buford moved that a committee be appointed to examine the proxies and ascertain if a quorum be present. Agreed to. . The Chair appointed Messrs, R. H. Maury, James H. Dooley, and John P. Branch. The committee, through Mr. Maury, re ported a quorum present—31,663 stockholders being present in person or by proxy.

THE ATLANTA AND CHARLOTTE AIR-LINE. President Buford stated that the meeting had been called, as was well known, for the purpose of considering the contract entered into by the Board of Directors for the control and operation of the Atlanta and Char-lotte Air-Line railway. He then read the following report of the Board touching that subject:

To the Stockholders of the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company :

Gentlemen,-This meeting has be called pursuant to an order of the Board of Directors for the purpose of submitting for your consideration and action the contract entered into on the 26th of March last between this company and the Atlanta and Charlotte Air-Line Railway Company by which this company acquires under the which this company acquires under the terms and stipulations set forth in said contract the control, use, and operation of the Atlanta and Charlotte Air-Line railway. A copy of said contract as executed on the above-named date, and now in force, is herewith submitted for your full informa-tion. Its terms and stipulations in detail need not herein be set forth.

The importance of the contract to al parties concerned, and the magnitude of the interests involved will justify, however, some brief record of the circumstances and considerations under and upon which it has been entered into, as well as the results and occurrences which have subsequently trans-

THE CHARACTER OF THE AIR-LINE RAILROAD, and its relations to your properties from its inception and through the period of its construction, as well as its history since fully opened up to traffic, are all familiar to the stockholders of this company for years past. Its value as a connection has long been duly estimated, as evinced by the large contributions in financial and moral support extended to it from the earliest in-ception of the work in 1868 down to the present period. It has been fully opened 266 miles in length, fairly equipped, and, with several tributary branches built under its auspieces, is now, and for sometime past has been, in successful operation. The towns, cities, and sections of country which it accommodates are among the most thrifty and prosperous of our southern States, and the indications are that the healthful growth of the prosperous business throughout that region is to increase for an indefinite term and to an indefinite extent. By sum of $362,500, payable half-yearly, and o'clock P. These betterments were considered as indispensably requisite during that period to put and maintain the property in that high standard of efficiency required to do the traffic offering and at its command. As SECURITY FOR THE FULFILMENT OF THESE

SHPULATIONS. this company undertakes to place and maintain in trust securities of the value of $500,000, which may be withdrawn at any time after five years, if during that period this company shall have duly performed its obligations under the contract. For the year previous to the acquisitio of the road, as stated, its revenues, with inadequate equipment and facilities, approximated the amount requisite to pay the charges thus assumed, and for the five months last past, including the two during which it has been under our control, the revenues show an increase of $84,110, vious year; and assuming the continuance of an average activity of business in the southern States, it is not doubted that the the control of a line of such extent, pro-

For months prior to the negotiation of this contract it had become an open secret that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Com-pany, through its Virginia Midland branch, was seeking to effect some combination of property or other equivalent alliance with the Air-Line road, through a proposed ex-tension from Danville south, by which this valuable connection of your line was to be

ACTION OF THE STOCKHOLDERS RATIFIED. Major James H. Dooley, after an appropriate statement, presented the following : Resolved, That the contract made on the 26th day of March, 1881, between the Atlanta and Charlotte Air-Line Railway Company and the Richmond and Danville Rail-road Company, by which the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company has acquired the control and management of the Atlanta and Charlotte Air-Line railway, be, and the same is hereby, approved and ratified by this meeting of stockholders.

ONE EIGHTH OF THE DANVILLE STOCK. Mr. James H. James, of Atlanta, Go., said he had watched with interest the action of the Board of Directors of the Danville road in their efforts to push their line to the South ever since 1868. As soon as he had seen a telegram published to the effect that the Richmond and Danville road had gotten control of the Atlanta and Charlotte Air-Line he knew that they were pushing on to the South, and he determined to buy Richmond and Danville stock. He commenced to buy, and now he and his friends own one eighth of the stock of the company.

The resolution offered by Major Dooley was unanimously agreed to. On motion of Mr. Branch the stockhold-

A pleasant programme has been arranged for the occasion, in which is included addresses by several well-known and popular speakers. A new tribe of the order will also be organized there during he day.

Excursionists .- Yesterday about 600 excursionists came down from Norwood on the Richmond and Alleghany railroad. The party spent the day in shopping and sight-seeing, and returned home in the evening much pleased with their trip. A BEAUTIFUL CITY .- W. H. Russell, the distinguished London correspondent, says Washington is now incomparably the most beautiful city in the Union. Those who patronize the Governor's Guard excursion on the 4th will not only find that he is correct, but, without losing a day from busi-ness, will see a magnificent military parade and a splendid display of fireworks. In fact, the Fourth is nowhere celebrated as it
